S2 French

Workbook

Le commerce équitable

You are learning about Fair Trade in Home Economics, Modern Studies and French.

Task one

You have received a copy of a new French magazine for young people called "A nous le monde!" (The world is ours!)

The first article is an introduction by the editor.

Read the article and answer the following questions:

1. What is the editor's name and where does he come from?
2. In how many states in the world is French spoken?
3. In which continents would you find these countries?
4. Name five places in Europe and five places in Africa where French is spoken.
5. How do many people in these African countries earn a living?
6. What disadvantage for children is mentioned?
7. The organisation "Max Havelaar" is mentioned. What is it for?
8. Name five Fair Trade products that you can buy in the supermarkets in France.
9. According to this article how many workers and their families are involved in fair trade.
